

G. Warlock Vance
from Pembroke, North Carolina

WHEN: Thursday, October 1, 2009 at 7:00 pm
WHERE: Osterneck Auditorium
COST: FREE

G. Warlock Vance moved to North Carolina seven years ago to pursue a Ph.D in English. He currently resides in Pembroke, NC where he spends most of his time writing, talking to his neighbor's horses and trying to learn the secrets of invisibility.

Warlock's fiction has appeared in several anthologies: REHEARSALS FOR OBLIVION (Elder Signs Press), DEMONOLOGY: GRAMMATICUS DAEMONIUM (Double Dragon Publishing), LOST WORLDS OF SPACE AND TIME: VOL 2 (Rainfall Books), THE CONSPIRACY FILES (Daw Books), THE ITHAQUA CYCLE (Chaosium Books), WHEN THE BLACK LOTUS BLOOMS (Unnameable Press), and several others.

Warlock's most recent book is titled THE MISSING NARRATIVE OF NEPTUNE and features the title novella and an additional short story. Both tales take place in Greensboro, NC and share several returning characters. The book fits into that genre of mystery fiction known as "weird detective" because the stories have supernatural elements.

Warlock maintains a web-presence at www.xanga.com/gwarlockvance. Stop in for news about his writing and to see examples of his unusual photography.

